

Geographers and Environmental Scientists from Sheffield Hallam University present...

#HotTopics

Students and teachers, sign up, listen and join the debate!

Can biophilia save humanity and planet Earth?

11th January 2023

8th February 2023

How can lake mud help us understand the climate and biodiversity crises?

Designing places for a changing climate

8th March 2023

19th April 2023

Water voles and leaky dams: surprising solutions to South Yorkshire's floods

Climate catastrophe and the geographies of mental health

10th May 2023

7th June 2023

Sustainable cities: living well, within our means

When?

All sessions 2pm - 2.30 pm

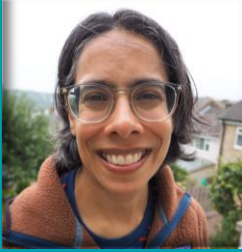

Where?

Online on Zoom

How do I watch?

Sign up on Eventbrite

Eventbrite link: <https://SHU-geography-environmental-sciencehottopics.eventbrite.co.uk>

Can biophilia save humanity and planet Earth?

Dr Camila Bassi
Senior Lecturer in Human Geography

How can lake mud help us understand the climate and biodiversity crises?

Dr Naomi Holmes
Associate Professor in Physical Geography

Designing places for a changing climate

Dr Cate Hammond
Senior Lecturer in Urban Planning

Water voles and leaky dams: surprising solutions to South Yorkshire's floods

Dr Jon Bridge
Associate Professor in Physical Geography

Climate catastrophe and the geographies of mental health

Dr Louisa Cadman
Senior Lecturer in Human Geography

Sustainable cities: living well, within our means

Anna Hawkins
Senior Lecturer in Social Environmental Science